CABOT.

Big Banquet to Hear Report of Laymen Convention Delegates.

Vermont is uniting with other sections of New England in conducting a series of men's missionary conventions in ten cities of New England. In the national conventions already held, there has been a hearty and large response by laymen to the call to consider the obligation of this nation to the non-Christian world.

On Friday evening, March 18, the seven delegates from Cabot churches to the laymen's missionary convention, held at Burlington March 5-7, gave a banquet for the men of Cabot, at the town hall at 9 o'clock. The purpose of those having this assembly in charge was to give the message of the Burlington convention.

A thorough and systematic canvass of the town was made and tickets sold at the nominal sum of fifteen cents to defray expenses. Over one hundred and twenty-five were in attendance. The company here assembled was thoroughly democratic and representative of all classes in the community. When all had found places around the tables, the doxology was sung while the audience was standing, and prayer was offered by Rev. F. E. Currier. After all were seated, the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was sung, led by a male quartet. The menu was unique and expressions of satisfaction with its quality were general. It consisted of old-fashioned corn hominy, milk, hulled corn, new maple syrup from Rock Maple farm of W. R. and J. H. Marsh, crackers and bread. The tables were graced with corn balls and ruddy-checked apples in abundance.

Large posters adorned each wall—the product of the artistic and decorative skill of "Archib" W. Stone. The posters added much to the occasion, as each one was a message in itself. The following sentiments were thus presented: "The Evangelization of the World in This Generation: A Man's Job"; "Love Grows by Exercise"; "Ye That Are Men Now Serve Him"; "You Can Give without Losing"; "The King's Business Requires Men"; "Not How Much Must I Do, But How Much Can I Do"; "They Conquer Who Believe They Can"; "Material Prosperity Rests on Moral Well-being—And Moral Well-being Cannot Exist without a Positive Religion Like Christianity (Romans 10)"; "We Can Do It If We Will—We Can Do It and We Will"; "Not How Much of My Money Must I Give to God, but How Much of God's Money May I Keep for Myself"; "The Unfinished Task: 15,000 missionaries now abroad can probably evangelize 375,000,000 of people during this generation; $25,000,000 not yet provided for; 25,000 times as many." "The Whole Business of the Whole Church is to Preach the Gospel to the Whole World."

As soon as the banquet was concluded, the meeting was called to order by the toastmaster, W. B. Lamoine, who announced the following speakers and subjects with appropriate introductions: "The Laymen's Missionary Movement," "Archib" W. Stone; "The Opening Night at the Burlington Convention," A. V. Nelson; "The Evangelization of the World in This Generation," Rev. F. E. Currier; "Some Impressions of the Burlington Convention," O. F. Barrett; "The Awakening Orient," Principal P. A. Gilmore; "The Evangel in the Dark Continent," R. M. Hoyt; "Men and Missions," Rev. W. Spalding. The toastmaster proved himself to be the right man in the right place. The various responses were received with a marked degree of attention and interest on the part of those present and were frequently punctuated with timely applause. It is certainly not too much to say that the large audience was never assembled in Cabot before, under such auspices, and larger towns must work to exceed the number present. It augurs well for this movement when so many men assemble in a small community to hear men speak whose message and commission is to stimulate a forward movement according to the vision of present-day opportunity for the extension of God's kingdom in America and all the world. The Cabot delegates will count it a privilege to co-operate with men in other churches in giving reports and encouraging this great work. W. T. S.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

Mrs. Samuel Reynolds and two sons are visiting friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. C. A. George, in the George W. Lynde district, is having pneumonia.

Carpenters Thomas Shoridan and Leslie Savory are working at their trade in Barre City.

Frank I. Godfrey is just getting out after some weeks of confinement to the house by illness.

Mrs. George Newton of West Topsham visited her daughter, Mrs. A. N. Fellows, the first of the week.

Mrs. Perkins of Berlin came here Tuesday as a nurse for George Beckett. She had previously nursed in the family.

The Village Improvement society will hold its regular meeting in rooms in Beckett block Friday evening, March 25.

Mrs. Hattie Jones Stevens of Montpelier has of late been visiting the family of her brother, veteran Dexter M. Jones, of our village.

Mrs. Wayne Wright, a daughter of Mrs. Sumner F. Wheatley, and now a patient at the Mary Fletcher hospital, will go from Burlington soon for a visit in Greenfield, Mass., where she lived at one time.

Joe Sassi, an Italian, who learned the granite cutting trade here some years ago, and who has been in one of the Carolinas of late, writes as if he would like to return here now to work, as he may likely do.

George and John G. sons of Gilbert Lane, on rural free delivery route No. 2, passed through here Monday morning, the former to his work in St. Albans as a customs agent, the latter to farm work in Barre.

A regular meeting of Williamstown lodge, No. 64, I. O. O. F., will be held Friday evening. Grand Master Perry is expected to be present. Refreshments will be served. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

Stated communication of Summit lodge, 104, F. and A. M., Wednesday evening, March 23, at 7:30 sharp. Work, M. M. degrees. All master Masons in good standing cordially invited. Refreshments, J. G. Pirie, W. M.

Mrs. George Bruce, a former resident, but now of Randolph, has just had a second shock. She seemed to have rallied from the first one, a year or two ago, quite remarkably. She has two sons living here, Bert and Frank.

Mrs. John Wilfong of our Construction bill was thought to be able to return home, after weeks at the Heaton hospital, the last of last week. We hope the surgery she underwent there will restore her to health and happiness.

Three hundred and sixty-eight thousand feet of lumber have been sawed at the Lynde saw-mill in Mill village this season, as we are told. A carload of corn is about to be ground at the Lynde grist mill there, for our feed store.

We would call attention thus early to the Easter sacred concert at the union service at the Methodist church next Sunday evening last. The chorists at the churches on the morning of that day will doubtless be appropriate for the season.

It is refreshing to hear even a rumor that a board of trade may be formed here soon. We once had such a board, and we believe our place was the gainer by it, when such men as Judge C. U. Lathrop and James K. Lynde were living and members of it.

The grange will have a sugar social, promenade and dance at grange hall Friday evening, March 25, 1910. Ladies of the grange are requested to bring doughnuts. Sugar served from seven until nine o'clock. Sugar 15c. Dance and promenade, 25c. couple.

Our grange dramatic club had an almost $50-dollar house in its presentation of "Neighbor Jackson" in Chelmsford Monday evening last. The club was accompanied by instrumentalists Mrs. A. N. Fellows, Clayton Spencer, W. E. Randall, Clinton W. Oram and George Goodrich.

George W. Savory, overseer of the poor, has had to take the very infirm old gentleman, E. Thomas, from the Prescott house on the county road, where he had lived by himself so long, to the home of Mrs. Charles Guild for care. Mr. Thomas was recently found in a pitiable condition on the floor of his home, where he may have laid in a fit of some kind for hours.

Miss Marjorie Duffus, now of Waterbury, is the only daughter of the late John M. Duffus. She first saw the light in the old General E. Base house of our village. Like her two brothers, Will and Rob, now in the Stanford university, California, she is a fine scholar, and will graduate from the Waterbury high school the coming season. Her class is to visit Washington City later.

Our young friend, Clyde Hutchinson, is meeting with fine success as a trapper these days. While over other (the game that he is after is—skunks!) there will be no tainted money in it, we are sure. Mr. Hutchinson will graduate from our high school next term. We think, however, he would keep on in school if our high school could have a four years' course, as we hope it may have, yet.

Who is there hereabouts who remembers a March like this in the last half century or more? We have talked with many old inhabitants in this vicinity and have not found one who ever witnessed a similar weather condition up to date, and which may continue to the end of the month, notwithstanding the adverse weather predictions for the last week in the month. Roads are getting dry in many localities in this section.

We called a day or two ago on Randall Wood, who lately returned from the Heaton hospital, where he had been for some weeks with a broken leg. He is now able to bear any weight upon it, yet, but he thinks he is doing well every way. He is greatly pleased with the care he had at the hospital. One of the things he left behind there, as he regards it, was the tobacco habit. He says he has no cravings for the weed, that was a drawback on his pocketbook, if not in any other direction.

held between her thumb and fingers with a rubber band. One of the pleasant things to be known in connection with this sad case is the untiring effort of her four nieces of our place, Mrs. J. M. Sear, Mrs. E. J. Poor, Mrs. "Gene" Call and Miss Lizzie Work, to flood her life with all the sunshine possible in their countless women's ways of doing it. We send now to Mrs. Dennis greetings from her old home. As we write, we can look from a window upon the house in which she was born, and we would tell her that the little folks of to-day are just as happy on the sleds on the crushed hill near her childhood home as ever she was, scores of years ago. And who could be happier!
